Role Playing Exercise

For this assignment, you will arrange in groups of three or four people and you will spend the next several weeks preparing for a performance in front of the class after first composing a story and writing a dialogue. The performance should be 12-15 minutes long for a group of three and 16-20 minutes long for a group of four. As we are and have been viewing a number of dramatic and comedic programs, from the present as well as the distant past, you should construct your story and dialogue in some particular genre. The dialogue will be submitted separately from the performance and will count as part of the overall grade. It should be carefully and neatly prepared. Parts of our two hour class days will be allotted for preparation; however, the majority of your preparation should take place outside of class in the company of other group members and/or by virtual forms of communication.

The performance will take place on Friday, December 3, and the dialogues must be submitted for evaluation on Friday, November 26. See me if you have any specific questions.
